LEYY BROTHERS—LIABILITI-s $400, 00.

When F. Mayer & Co. and Levy Bros. & Co. failed about two weeks ago, well-informed persons did not heatlate to say that Simon Mack & Co. would be forced to stop payment. The senior member of that firm admitted that unless his friends came to his aid the outlook for his firm was not cheerful. It was known that some of his relatives who were possessed of a large amount of ready cash had come to this city from the West immediately after the Mayer-Levy failures with the intention of investigating the affairs of Mack & Co., and if they found them to be satisfactory, of affording such assistance as was necessary.

A few minutes before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a representative of the legal advisors of Simon Mack & Co. entered the office of the Count. Clerk and ad put on record the assignment of Simon and Henry S. Mack, who are the members of that firm, to Federick Lewis. The pri cipal preferred creditors are Eleanora Mack, $18,264 44; Isaae Rau, $5,000; E. S. & L. S. Mack, $5,27 01; Charles S. Mack, $2,384 59; Mrs. Clara Mack, $1,500; Frederick Butterfield & Co., $11,929 59; Cathin & Co., $1,362 63 S. M. & B. Cohen, $4,000, and notes of Simon Mack & Co. amounting to $249,968 27, the name of the holders of which are unknown to the assignors. This makes the total of preferences $302,630 7e.

R. G. Dun & Co. 8 reports show that Simon Mack nuknows to the assignors. This makes the interpreterences $302,630 76.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s reports show that Simon Mack began business for nimself in Cincinnati about 1849. Until 1867 he was of Mack & Brothers there, a firm which before the war was one of the most prominent clothing houses in that city.

About the close of the war a purchasing branch of began busness for nimself in Chennata about 1849. Until 1867 he was of Mack & Brothers there, a firm which before the war was one of the most prominent clothing houses in that city, About the close of the war a purchasing branch of the firm was onened in College-place, this city, and Simen Mack took charge of it. The firm dissolved on February 1, 1867, and Simon Mack became a member of the firm of Mack, Glaser & Co., which did a wholesale clothing business here and also operated a woollen mill in Covington, Ky. In May, 1868 that firm dissolved and Mr. Mack took Isaac S. Mack, one of his sons, as a partner under the style of Simon Mack & Co., and started out to do an extensive wholesale clothing business. The commission bouses then had an exceedingly favorable option of the senior Mack, as he had separated from his former partners becames of unfavorable forme of relatives. Up to the summer of 1871 the firm was in high credit. In the preceding spring large quantities of woollens had been bought by it on a rising market and the firm bad a large amount of paper out, the demand for whou by basiers and capitanists suddenly ceased and as the notes were coming due in rapid succession the firm deemed it meessary to make an assignment on Octobber 26, 1871. They owed about $570,000 and nad assets of about $256,000. The creditors did not accept the offers of compromiss made and the firm awas put in bankrupter. For a time Simon Mack was employed in a commission dry goods house; then he manufacturing clothing business in this city under the old firm sive of Simon Mack & Co. of that city. The liabilities, including the paper leaved to Mayer & Co., are over $400,000, but Mayer & Co. having preferred the firm for a large amount of this liability, it will of course reduce the actual habilities of Simon Mack & Co. From what information I can gather and from what I know of Mac & Co., my impression is that no direct creditor of Mr. Mack or the firm will lose one dollar. The liabilities of $400,000 do not include mortgages on Simon Mack's real estate. I do not know the amount of the mortgages, but there is a large equity on the property. He owns one-half interest in the block at the Bowery and Hester and Elizabeth sts. valued at $230,000 to $240,000. This is consider d a valuable piece of property, and there are a number of other pieces which he owns, but I cannot state the valuation."

"Do you think this will affect the standing of the London and Liverpool Clothing Company, carried on by Isidor Rosenheim & Co.!" was asked.

"Not in the slightest. From what I have learned Isidor Rosenheim & Co. are indebted to Mack & Co. for merchandise bought and mannfactured for them. They are two separate concerns. Mack & Co. having no connection with them, other than manufacturing and selling them goods."

Simon Mack was so prostrated by the blow which has fallen on him that he had to retire to his room and could not be seen when a TRIBUNE reporter called at the house. "My father," said Hugo Mack, "h an old man and the struggle he has made for the last two weeks to tide over his difficulties has worn him out. well he would have retired from all active business in six months, as he is a large real estate owner. The failure is due to one cause and one cause alone. If we had been able to obtain from the assignee of F. Mayer & Co. the names of the holders of the $160,000 of accommodation paper bearing our indorsement which they hold, we could have made arrangements and tided over all our embarassments. But we could not, and if my father had paid $160,000 to Mayer's creditors his own genuine creditors would have suffered. As it is they will be paid in full, but we saw no good in paying out such a vast sum to another firm's creditors. It is this system of mutual accommodation which seems a necessary part of the cloth trade that has worked our ruin. During the last ten days my father has received many offers of help, and has resolutely dechined them all, as he felt it was no use involving others with himself."

FAILURE OF SASH AND DOOR MAKERS. FAILURE OF SASH AND DOOR MAKERS.
R. G. Dun & Co. report that William H. and Theodore P. Jenkins, composing the firm of William H. Jenkins & Son, dealers in sasles, blinds, doors, etc., at No. 247 Canai-st., made an assignment yesterday to Charles O. Le Count, with preferences amounting to $15,082 22. The senior has been in business in this city since 1851, when he came from Springfield, Mass., where he had been in the same line of business, the took his son as a partner in January, 1875. They bought from out-of-town manufacturers, and also had goods consigned them for sale. Many of the leading builders bought largely from them, and they also exported a considerable quantity of goods to Europe. They owe about $60,000.

A SWINDLER BROUGHT TO JUSTICE.

An advertisement published on July 10, offering 2 permanent position at a good salary to a young man with $25 or $50 attracted the attention of Joseph F. Sailer, of No. 255 Van Verst-st., Jersey City, and of C. H. Scribner, of No. 9 Hicks-st., Brooklyn. They answered the advertisement and were received at different times by an elderly man of pleasing appearance, who said that he was Theodore Morgan, a relative of ex-Governor Morgan. He said that he was a butcher and had a stand in Fulton Market. He gave as the reason for wishing a deposit that he had been defrauded by a former clerk. To each of the young men he promised a position at his stand, offering wages of $10 for each of the first few weeks, and afterward $15 a week. Sailer borrowed the money and paid $50. He was employed for two weeks and received $20. After that time he was unable to procure any further return for his services, and the deposit was not given back. Scribner for $45 obtained a mortgage, which proved to be valueless, on the butcher's stock, and was paid 100 one week's service. The young men were witnesses against Morgan in the Court of General Sessions and he was convicted of larceny. Judge Cowing yesterday sentenced him to two years in the State Prison.

FREE PASSES ON THE BRIDGE.

ONLY THREE TRUSTEES REFUSE THEM. THE RECEIPTS FROM TRAVEL-THE GRIP-REMOVAL

OF THE ELEVATED STATION IN CHATHAM-ST. After an interval of three months the Bridge trustees met yesterday for the first time in the new office, opposite the Brooklyn entrance of the Bridge. In the course of the meeting Mayor Low said that he had received two free passes over the Bridge, one for himself and one for him and his tamily. He did not think the trustees had any right to pass any one over a public work free. It would be the same as it a Commissioner of City Works gave himself free water at the expense of the city. He was willing to pay fare on the Bridge for himself and for his family, and he moved that the passes be recalled and no more be issued. Mr. Kingsley said that the only passes were those issued to the trustees and their families. There were men in the Board who had done hard work for many years, without any compensation, and a pass over the Bridge was only a proper acknowledgement of their services. If any trustee did not wish to use the pass he could return it. Ex-Mayor Howell seconded the motion of Mayor Low, saying that the matter might as well be tested at once, and the vote was taken. The trustees who voted in favor of the motion were Mr. Low, A. C. Barnes, and H. K. Thurber; the other twelve—Mayor Edson, Controllers Grant and Brinkerhoff, W. C. Kingsley, General H. W. Slocum, J. S. T. Stranahau, James Howell, T. C. Clarke, Otto Witte, J. A. Bush, A. S. Swan, and Charles Maedonald—voted in the negative.

The treasurer, Otto Witte, reported that the receipts from foot passengers up to October 4—nine-teen weeks from the Bridge opening, were $34.464. After an interval of three months the Bridge as the East River Bridge is in advance of any bridge previously erected."

The treasurer, Otto Witte, reported that the receipts from foot passengers up to October 4—nineteen weeks from the Bridge opening, were $34.464, from vehicles $31,563, and from cars $3,336. The average was $526.04 a day, and the total receipts were $69.163, while the expenses were $51.418.08. The engineers stated that the car store-house at the Brooklyn terminus would be ready by November 1, and that work would be begun on the New-York warehouses to-day. Superintendent Marthire, ort-d that the total number of pedestrians crossing the Bridge from New-York, up to October 1, was 1,865.800, and from Brooklyn 1,519.600, making 3,385,400 m all. Mr. Martin said in his report upon the car traffic: "I wish to say that in my judgment Colonel Paine's roller grip is as much in advance of anything in the way of a grip ever before produced as the East River Bridge is in advance of any bridge previously erected."

Mayor Low asked if all the difficulties in regard to the grip had been satisfactorily settled. Mr. Kingsley answered that there might be some unioreseen complications, but up to the present time there had been no difficulty not easily overcome, the called for the opinion of the engineers among the trustees. Mr. Clarke said that the system was a safe and practicable one, and, with the defects in the machinery remedied, it would prove as good as any machinery engineers could invent. Mr. Macdonald, also an engineer, coincided with Mr. Clarke's opinion. Mr. Martin then told about his visit to Chicago to see the workings of the grip in use there.

ion. Mr. Martin then told about his visit to Chicago to see the workings of the grip in use there.

Mr. Kingsley reported that the Elevated Railroad Company had not yet definitely seitled the matter of removing the station in Chatham-st. He thought that a committee should be appointed with nower to meet the officers of the Elevated Railroad Company, and settle the matter. Mr. Bush said that the elevated railroad station was put where it is in order to force the trustees to some sort of an arrangement with the company, to the latter's advantage. The company had no legal right to erect its station ther. It would not be wise to compromise at all. The suit had been too long kept from truit. The trustees could have the station pulled down, and should speedily secure the necessary legal action. Mr. Stranahan, in his usual bland manner, remarked that there would be wisdom in having the matter referred to acommittee to report at the next meeting, and he so moved. Mr. Bush said that he did not object to a committee, out elevated railroad men were talking of speedy connection with the Bridge. This was a highly important question and should not be settled without full discussion among the grustees. The railroad company was afraid of a fair fruit, and wantee to make some "dicker," It was voted that the committee of four be appointed by the president, who should also be a member of the committee.

Mayor Low stated that owing to the absence of ex-Mayor Grace and the Commissioner of Accounts, the reprot of the experts upon the accounts of the trustees was no yet ready.

A namber of men employed on the police force were discharged on the recommendation of the Executive Committee.

The travel over the Bridge on Sunday amounted to 41.386, of which $99 came from vehicles, $371 from pedestrians and $916 from car fares, The grip behaved well yesterday.

THE REV. DR. DEEMS'S METHODS. The Rev. Dr. C. F. Deems, pastor of the Church of the Strangers, addressed the Baptist preachers The Rev. Dr. C. F. Deems, pastor of the Church of the Strangers, addressed the Baptist preachers yesterday on "Pastoral Work in Great Crites." He said he had not accepted the invitation to speak before the Conference in acpes of instructing the ministers of a denomination whose thritt and progress was the wonder of Christendom, but to present his own methods of doing passoral work, and to evoke brotherly criticism. "Pastoral visiting," he said, "is subordinate to preaching. Am I here to tickle the vanity or men, to cuddle the women and amuse the children, or am I here to preach? I find that the congregation never talk about their pastor unless they think you have a toin skin or a long memory. I have no constitution in my charch, which is composed of very poor and indiculously rich members. Nobody ever seems to die in my parish and every funeral I have seems to be outside my church." Dr. Deems was asked how many sermons he had written during his ministry. He replied, between forty-nine and fifty. He was so exact, he said, because for one sermon that he had written his wife had such a contempt that the did not know whether to count it as a whole or only a fraction of a sermon. In reply to the question, how often he held religious meetings, he said: "Every night; and I always take up a collection. In fact I always take up a collection. In fact I always take up a collection at every service except for family prayer, attough the report that I take up collections at funerals is not true." On the subject of temperance, Dr. Deems said he always insisted that no wine should be placed on the tables of the members of his congregation, and he c uid say truthfully that spiritions higher a laway substeed from the nomes of all his churca followers. He did not believe that a church law should exists restricting the selling or drinking of hogor any more than a law to restrict the eating of too much beef. At the concinsion of his address Dr. Deems was unanimously voted the thanks of the conference.

Three young ruffians entered the hallway of Mr.
Donovan's home at No. 409 East One-hundred-andst twelith-st., late Sunday night and demanded a can in which to get some beer. He refused to give it to them and ordered them to leave, instead of which they attacked him. After severely beating the old man two of the ruffians forced their way into his apartments and locking the door one, Michael Stanton, of No. 429 East One-hundred-and-twelith-st., attacked Minnie Donovae, a girlof seventeen, and attempted o brutally assault her. She screamed for help and her sixteen-year-old sister, Louisa, entered the room armed with a sad-iron with which she attacked Minnie's assailant and cut his head open in two places. The third man, Edward McLarney, of One-hundred-and-seventeenth-st, and First-swe, then forced open the door and attacked the sisters with a chair, but before he had seriously injured either of them, then cross for the police alarmed the intruders who then beat a hasty refreat through the windows. ATTENDANCE ON THE NIGHT SCHOOLS.

The first week of the autumn session of the evening schools ended on Friday. From the reports which have been forwarded to Superintendent Jasper by the teachers in the several wards, it appears that while the number of pupils registered is larger than a year ago, the average attendance is smaller. The figures are as follows: Number registered in 1882, 12.185; average attendance, 9.514; teachers, 247. The number registered instance, 9.514; teachers, 247. The rumor which has been current for two or three days to the effect that the recent examination of the affairs of the City of London Insurance Company by the Massachusetts Insurance Department would result in the withdrawal of that company from the United States was denied yesterday on trustworthy authority. The rumor originated through a press dispatch from Boston, in which the affairs of the Metropole Insurance Company and those of the City of London were confused. Both companies have the same United States manager—John C. Paige, of Boston. The Metropole withdrew several months ago, but the City of London will remain.

CONTROVERSY ABOUT SEA-SICKNESS. Profound articles by able writers in the Century and Popular Science Monthly are discussing the sause of sea-sick ness. They are taking much needless trouble, for it has been well ascertained that going to sea is the cause of this malady As to the cure of it, is what people want to know. A few drops of Perry Davis's Pain Killer taken in some water, will settle that beyond all discussion. If you want to avoid seasickness, don't go to sea. If you want to cure it, have a bottle of Pain Killer in your satchel ready for immediate use,

The continued and universal use of this most valuable household tisinfectant is earnestly urged now, that the usual autumnal sway of Typhoid, Scarlet and Malarial Fevers with their accompanying ille

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It is should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure, most certain to cure,
